RAYMOND ROBINS IS EXCELLENT TALKER

CHAIRMAN OF STATE CENTRAL PROGRESSIVE COMMITTEE WILL SPEAK HERE.

MONDAY EVENING, FEB. 16

Wealthy Reformer and Social Worker Will Give Interesting Address to Dixon People.

Hon. Raymond Robins, who will speak at the opera house at 8 p. m. Monday, February 16th, is known as one of the most famous speakers now before the public. He has made a tour of the world speaking with some of our greatest orators. He has campaigned in England in the interest of a candidate for parliament. During the last presidential campaign he was listed as the strongest speaker in the progressive party, not excepting Roosevelt, and was in demand from New York to California.

He is eloquent, forceful and impressive. He holds the interest of his audience from the first word and retains it to the end of his address.

The story of Robins' life is unique. He was a poor boy and went to work in the coal mines of Illinois where he learned the conditions of the poor laboring man and shared his toil.

Leaving these mines he went to the Klondike where in the rush for gold he was lucky and acquired a fortune sufficient for his needs for the rest of his life.

Returning to the United States he resolved to devote his life to bettering the condition of the working man. While engaged in social work he met his wife, who was also engaged in social settlement work and they were married and together they are giving their lives to the uplift of mankind.

Feeling that the progressive party offered a means to assist in bringing this to pass, in the fall of 1912 Mr. Robins cast his fortunes with that party and has been fighting its battles since. It is as chairman of the state committee of the progressive party that he appears in Dixon and his plea will be for the uplift and betterment of mankind, a scathing denunciation of the bosses in politics and an optimistic outlook on the future for the race.

To hear him will be a rare treat and men and women in all walks of life should make a special effort to be present and meet this great man who feels that he is giving his life to them. Everyone is invited regardless of party affiliations. No admission charge. Free to everyone.—Advertisement.

E. D. ALEXANDER TO LIVE IN DIXON

VICE PRESIDENT OF I. N. U. AR-RANGES TO MAKE DIXON
HIS HOME.

Vice President E. D. Alexander of the Illinois Northern Utilities company, is making arrangements to remove his family to this city and to make his future home here. As vice president of the big company his success has been very gratifying to his friends and there are many connected with the company who believe that within a short time he will be made president of the company, with headquarters in Dixon. Mr.
Alexander's removal to this city means much for Dixon, as it is a quietus to the rumors that the head quarters of the concern were to be removed to some other city, and it also means that the general officials will reside here.

MAKES CORSETS IN RODESCH BUILDING

GOSSARD CORSET CO. LEASES
UPPER TWO FLOORS FROM RODESCH PLAYER CO.

TO MOVE IN APRIL 1ST.

Company Will Not Close Present
Plant But Announces This Means Increase.

S. S. Gossard, of the H. W. Gossard Co., made a visit to the local factory of the corset manufacturing firm today and made the announcement that the Gossard Co. had closed a lease with Pres. R. A. Rodesch for the upper two floors of the building occupied by the Rodesch Piano & Player Co., 106-108 River street, and that the corset company would take possession April 1st, when they will start extensive manufacture of certain lines of their goods in the new factory.

This change really comes in the light of additional industry for Dixon, for Mr. Gossard stated today that the work in the present factory will be kept up and that the company expected to increase its present force materially. He said they hoped to have 200 people working in the River street factory within a year, and the company is now advertising in another part of this paper for 50 girls who are asked to start work at once, and learn the trade, so they may be full fledged operators by April 1st.

The new plant will be much easier to reach by employees than the present one, and help will be easier to secure. With the shoe factory, and the Gossard people both expanding in this way, there will be work for many more girls and men than the city now has and it should result in the importation of many people.

Rodesch to Start Up.

At about the same time the Rodesch Piano & Player Co. will begin active operations manufacturing their products and will occupy the first two floors of the building, employing about 25 men. The work at first will be mainly devoted to the music roll cutting department.

Mr. Rodesch, in giving the above information concerning his plant today, stated that at the present time there is a greater demand for player rolls than there has been in the history of the piano player business.

ing was of special interest in that District Deputy Dr. Fletcher was present and addressed the members, following which a social session was enjoyed.

CHARLES STITELEY SELLS INTERESTS

WELL KNOWN DIXON REAL ES-TATE MAN WILL MOVE TO CALIFORNIA.

F. X. NEWCOMER PURCHASER

Mrs. Stiteley's Health Makes Move Imperative—Dixon Loath to Lose Them.

Charles H. Stiteley, of the firm of Stiteley-Newcomer Co., who has been actively engaged in the real estate business in Dixon for the past 18 years, has disposed of his interest in that firm, consisting of extensive holdings in farm and city property and a large established insurance and mortgage loan business, to Francis X. Newcomer, one of the present members of the firm.

Mr. Stiteley's move is made necessary because of the illness of Mrs.
Stiteley, who recently recovered from a very serious illness and early in the winter was compelled to go to a milder climate to regain her health. The change has been so beneficial that Mr. Stiteley has decided it the only wise and prudent thing for him to dispose of his many interests here and join his family, which consists of his wife and two bright children, a boy and a girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Stiteley will be greatly missed by their many friends and associates. Mr. Stiteley was a willing and tireless worker for the advancement of our city and has done much valuable work as president and director of the Dixon Citizens' association, always gladly giving his time and financial aid when a new institution was being considered which would help our city. He was also a director of the Union
State bank.

There will be no interruption in the transaction of the business of the Stiteley-Newcomer Co. because of Mr. Stiteley leaving. All of the affairs of that institution will be along such safe and conservative lines as have characterized their past transactions.

There is perhaps no business man in Dixon who is more generally popular among all classes than "Charley" Stiteley, and when the news of his decision was passed up and down the street it was received with genuine regret. He has been one of the important factors in Dixon's prosperity. The city that gets Mr. Stiteley and his family to live in will be fortunate, and although the many friends here realize that the move is a wise one and wish the Stiteleys' every success in their new home, we cannot but begrudge their going.

noon in Albany and other New York

ICE IS POOR.

Manager Sam Watson of the Dixon Pure Ice company, reports that the ice is not of as good quality as might be expected, the warm rains and snow prior to the present cold wave having "honeycombed" the ice to a considerable depth, necessitating it being planed before it can be stored.

HONOR CONVICTS TAKEN BACK TODAY

WORK ON ROAD NEAR GRAND DETOUR HAS BEEN COMPLET-ED AND MEN LEAVE.

REWARD FOR FAITHFULNESS

As Reward for Good Work Honor Men Will Not Be Put Inside the Prison Walls Again.

Twenty-eight Camp Hope "honor convicts" broke camp near Grand Detour this morning, and under the charge of Captain Keegan, were brought to Dixon in wagons and boarding a special car attached to the 11:08 eastbound C. & N. W. and were taken to Joliet by way of Geneva and Aurora.

J. G. Reis, representing the Industrial Moving Picture Co. of Chicago, was on hand with assistants, and some excellent moving pictures were taken of the men in action breaking camp and being loaded into the car. Some good pictures were also taken yesterday of the men working on the road they have just completed. The pictures will be used by Warden Allen of the Illinois state penitentiary, in lectures he will give in New York and Chicago concerning the work done near Dixon this fall, and after the warden has finished showing them they will be exhibited to the general public. The pictures will be seen probably in many parts of the nation and Dixon will receive some desirable advertising from them, as hundreds of thousands of people will view them with interest.

Convicts Keep Pets

The Camp Hope men were allowed to retain the pets that had come into their camp during the stay here.
A dog named "Camp" and a cat, named "Hope," and an eagle captured by the men are among friends the "boys" have made.

'Not Back to Prison.

The men who were in Camp Hope will never again be put inside prison walls. Warden Allen believes they have earned better treatment and so today the squad was taken right past the prison and located in a nine room house on the new prison site, which is a 2500 acre farm bought six years ago by the state and which the authorities have decided to use as a prison farm. Honor convicts will be placed there and will till the soil and the produce of the farm will be used in the prison and other state institutions. What is left will be sold in the open market.

The work of the convicts in Grand Detour township has resulted in a beautiful hard road which replaces a sand pit and a rock pile that was well nigh impassable before. The road is completed with the exception of a small amount of top dressing which was not available and which will be put on next spring.

PAROCHIAL SCHOOL CLOSED FOR WEEK

UNFORTUNATE ACCIDENT DIS-ABLES THE HEATING PLANT—
FATHER FOLEY MAKES STATE-MENT.

To the Patrons of St. Mary's School: Owing to a leak in the boiler of our heating plant we find it necessary not to hold school until a new boiler is put in.

The boiler is now on the way from Detroit. It was shipped yesterday afternoon. It will no doubt take the rest of the week to put it in place so that much as we regret it, we can have no school until Monday. Let me respectfully and earnestly beg the parents of the children to keep them at home and off of the streets and have them review their lessons. Let me further beg the parents not to allow their children to go on the ice on the river, as there is always danger.

Respectfully,
MICHAEL FOLEY.

Mrs. Henry Schryver of Second street was taken to the hospital today for treatment for peritonitis.

No Affidavits With This Story. Someone, so the yarn goes, to illustrate the intelligence of the collie, tells of one which was possessed with the desire to take his naps on a bed in a certain room. Each time his master caught him on the bed he would punish him. So effectual was this that the collie could often be found in that room, to be sure, but sleeping innocently in some corner on the floor.

Suspecting him, his master put his hand on the bed one day and finding it warm, he punished the collie again. The following day, missing the dog, he tiptoed up the stairs to the same room and entering stealthily he found the collie standing with his forepaws on the bed blowing on the spot where he had been lying, to cool it off.—From Elizabeth Goldsmith's "Toby, the Story of a Dog."

"I am an old man—and many of my troubles never happened."—ELBERT HUBBARD

THE white hair and wrinkled faces of our busy men and women tell of doubt, fear and anxiety—more than disease or age. Worry plays havoc with the nervous system—so that digestion is ruined and sleep banished. What oil is to the friction of the delicate parts of an engine—

DR. PIERCE'S Golden Medical Discovery

is to the delicate organs of the body. It's a tonic and body builder—because it stimulates the liver to vigorous action, assists the stomach to assimilate food—thus enriching the blood, and the nerves and heart in turn are fed on pure rich blood. CHILDREN'S EYES

If the little girl complains of headaches, is backward in her studies, or does not like to study, it is probable that she has some eye defect. Of course it could be from some other cause, but to be on the safe side you should have US examine her eyes at once. A slight correction while they are young will effect a permanent cure, eliminating the wearing of glasses later.

Family Reunion.

A delightful family reunion was held yesterday at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Scholl, 1513 W. Third street. The gathering numbered 31 guests, all relatives, there being present seven sons and one daughter and their families. A happy day was enjoyed and a sumptuous dinner was served, the tables being laden with all the delicacies of the season.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Scholl and family, Polo; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Scholl and family of Milledgeville; George Scholl, South Dakota; Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Scholl and family, South Dixon; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scholl and family, North Dixon; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Scholl and family and Albert Scholl, Polo; and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Zigler and family.

After a very pleasant day all dispersed to their homes with renewed affection in the family ties and with happiest memories.

Daughters of American Revolution

The D. A. R. held the February meeting Saturday with Mrs. Barlow. She was assisted by Miss Woodbridge, Mrs. Knight and Mrs. McWethy. There was a large attendance, it being guest day, and an added attraction was the address by Frank Stevens, "Illinois in the Revolution," in which all expectations were more than realized. He told much that was entirely new to all, and made us realize that Illinois our own state of the west, played a very important part in the war of the Revolution. How the wonderfully gifted and able general George Rogers Clark, far from base of supplies, led his small body of brave men on to victory, over the British, Spanish, and hostile Indians, permanently placing Illinois under the Stars and Stripes. There is no one, perhaps, in the state, better informed on the early history of Illinois and certainly no one who can tell the story in a more interesting and entertaining manner. The Daughters consider themselves fortunate in having the privilege of hearing him.

Dixon audiences are always delighted to listen to Miss Hitchcock's charming voice and she favored the chapter with two beautiful numbers. Mrs. Burnham, also a favorite, gave a very amusing reading entitled, "O'Riley and His Coat of Arms." Mrs. F. Rosbrook accompanied Miss Hitchcock.

Refreshments were served and a social half hour enjoyed.

16th Wedding Anniversary.

Last night at the Christian parsonage, 703 North Crawford avenue, Rev. and Mrs. Samuel Fisher celebrated their 16th wedding anniversary by tendering an informal reception to the officers of the church and their families, forty being present. The evening was spent in conversation and music. John E. Moyer furnished one of his splendid Edison disk phonographs for the occasion and Mrs. C. C. Kost rendered piano selections.

After an oyster supper C. W. Johnson, in behalf of the officers and congregation, presented the minister and his wife with a beautiful fumed oak library table. Rev. Fisher responded. Mr. Fisher is closing his fourth year with the church and the relations existing between them are most harmonious and cordial.

At a late hour the departing guests wished their pastor and wife the return of many happy anniversary occasions.

WILD RIOT MARKS JAP INVESTIGATION

PREMIER FIERCELY ATTACKED FOR ATTITUDE TOWARD GRAFTERS.

(By The Associated Press)
Tokio, Japan, Feb. 10.—Rioters attacked the Japanese house of parliament today but were driven back by the police after the entrance gates had been broken down. Scores were injured.

The rioting followed a big mass meeting, when resolutions were introduced impeaching the cabinet for its attitude in connection with the graft scandal, which involves 12 Japanese naval officers and a German contracting firm. Fifteen persons were pushed into the canal, but all were rescued. The Diet, after a dramatic debate, rejected the resolution for want of confidence in the government. Premier Yamamoto was fiercely attacked but maintained calmness and asked suspension of judgment until the inquiry was concluded. A member of the opposition judgment until the inquiry was concluded. Every One Has His Peculiarities. Restoring Health, Is Surely Ours.

That fits our talk 'cause well balanced minds, active brains and vigorous bodies are not so numerous! If you think they are, let me suggest that you first look yourself over! To begin with have you the mental poise and efficiency your work demands of you?

Analyze Yourself.

Is your brain clear and strong? Can you think and act quickly and to the point? Can you do your work with ease and pleasure to yourself?

Dixon young ladies should realize when asking young men if they will love them forever that people are not in the habit of living that long.

Possibly it is because they have so much more leisure that many people are continually taking up something—usually other people's time. No, Cordelia, opera glasses do not properly belong to the list of rubber goods, certainly not.

Nor does Max Logan think much of the fellow who 'phoned him as a deputy sheriff, thereby getting him all fussed up, before he discovered it was a joke.

Overheard at Rosbrook's hall — "Doesn't that girl dance just like a chicken?"

"Yep. Perfect poultry of motion." Cigar stores are reporting that sales to men who quit smoking the first of the year are about normal again.

It really does seem hopeless. As soon as one has learned the latest tango step another new one has been invented.

If Japan ever makes war upon us it will be soon after she has said: "I love the United States too well to attack her." The next minute her navy may hit us at an exposed spot. That is the way of the little Jap. So watch him!

COPPER PROBE OPENS

Congressional Committee Begins Inquiry in Michigan.

Serious Charges Made Against Mining Companies by Attorney for Federation.

Houghton, Mich., Feb. 10.—In his opening address before the congressional committee sent to investigate the copper strike, Judge O. N. Hilton, for the Western Federation of Miners, charged the mining companies with the most barbarous and inhuman treatment of men, absolute disregard for their comfort, payment of starvation wages and practical slavery. He declared he would prove his charges. "Misrepresentations, absolutely false," shouted back Attorney Allan F. Rees of the Calumet & Hecla counsel, when he opened for the corporations, "and in line with the treachery and outlawry and overstepping of constitutional rights by Federation of Miners' agents the last six months."

The congressional investigation was opened by Congressman Taylor, committee chairman, who invited the assistance of all who have any information. "We want to make this a complete investigation," he said. Both sides, through attorneys, guaranteed their utmost help.

The investigation is to follow closely the program laid down in the resolution under which the investigation is being carried on.

One witness was placed on the stand. William J. Rickard, president of the Calumet local of the Federation of Miners, who told of working in a temperature, underground, of 100, and earning as low as $4.30 per month. He declared levels and stopes underground were filled with gas and smoke and unsanitary, no provision being made for the sanitary comfort of the men, and no fresh water being provided.

QUEEN TO VISIT AMERICA

Wife of Bulgarian Monarch Coming in 1915.

Sofia, Feb. 10.—Queen Eleonora of Bulgaria intimated her intention of visiting the United States in the spring of 1915. The visit is to be undertaken with the full approval and by the wish of King Ferdinand. She probably will sail from an English port on one of the big liners and disembark at New York. Her decision was made known to Panama Exposition Commissioners Andrews, Rees and Brown, who, with the American minister to Sofia, had a two-hour audience with King Ferdinand and Queen Eleonora at the royal palace. The commissioners received the assurance of both their majesties' lively interest in the San Francisco exposition and a promise of participation.

For Women Who Smoke.
"When we smoke, by all means let us be as masculine in our dress as we are in our habits," say the London women, and already the tea trousers and smoking coats are replacing the negligees and tea gowns of ordinary afternoon wear. The custom has been in vogue in Paris for some time, but the English women have only just begun to adopt it. They call the suit the pajama tea suits, and at some of the exclusively feminine tango teas they have also been seen. They are made either of the heavy materials and a smoking jacket and straight-cut trousers, much like the coat and trousers of the Chinese women, or they are fashioned of delicately-embroidered silks and satins for the boudoir.

Through the Swing Door.
Courtesy is sorely tried by the swinging doors of office buildings. The natural instinct of a man is to hold the door open for a woman who is following him. Usually she politely accepts the courtesy, puts out her hand to catch the door—and you go on your way. But if her hands are occupied and she passes through while you hold the door, the chances are ten to one that an able-bodied man will follow her, with never a thought of taking hold of the door, and you stand there feeling cheap as you do the lackey service to the man. What is one to do under such circumstances? Why, let the door bang on the boob, to be sure. —New York Mail.

India Cultivating Quinine.
Java, now furnishing the bulk of the world's quinine supply, finds a great market for the preparation in India, which already consumes one-sixth of all the quinine produced. Ceylon, once a large exporter, has fallen off in the product until the quantity sent out each year is quite negligible. India, however, in an effort to become a great quinine-producing country, has planted thousands of acres to the cinchona tree.

HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS ARE BENEFICIAL.

There is a side of the training of youth that comes near in importance to the school studies, and that is the promotion of physical health and strength. A puny, untrained body is a poor companion to an educated mind and the school studies are worthless to a boy or girl without health. Health of body promotes health of mind and makes that organ more receptive when enlightenment is offered it.

There are no cleaner, healthier sports than track work of all kinds and the high school students of Dixon should be given an opportunity to indulge in the spring athletics which are a part of the school life in so many cities. As a rule track athletics are least dangerous of any sports, and they also come nearer the ideal in physical culture. Out of the two Dixon high schools, a splendid track team could be organized. Second teams from the two schools could find much entertainment in local contests, and a union first team, picked from the best of both, could go out into the cities of this part of the state, enter in the various meets, and give a good account of itself for the honor of Dixon. It is a recognized fact that fine athletic organizations are among the greatest inducements a school can offer. They do a city good, and what is more to the point, they benefit the pupils themselves, both the participants and the ones on the side lines, for it not only improves the physical and mental health of the boy, but infuses an enthusiastic, beneficial school spirit into all the pupils, even in the grades. It gives them more interest in their school work, affords variety to the hum-drum studies, makes them loyal to the institution that gives them learning, and makes the school a place they want to keep on attending, instead of a place to get away from just as soon as their parents will allow them to stop and go to work.

In past years, athletics in the schools were frowned upon by the older folks, who thought that play had no place in the school and that athletic sports were a silly waste of time. It is not so now. Educators know that the scientific way to teach boys and girls is to make the school life a pleasure to them instead of a task, and to give them a certain amount of relaxation, rather than over-burden them with never-ending, eye-straining, brain-dulling, back-rounding, uninteresting studies. The happy medium of a judicious blending of innocent, healthy fun and good, solid work produces the most desirable results.

ON THE EDUCATION OF IMMIGRANTS.

That immigrants are keenly interested in schooling for their children, or at least conspicuously obedient to school-attending laws, is the declaration of Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States commissioner of Education. "The least illiterate of our population are the native-born children of foreign parents," says Dr. Claxton in a bulletin on education for immigrants just issued. "The illiteracy among the children of native-born parents is three times as great as that among native-born children of foreign parents."

Dr. Claxton reviews the whole problem of education for immigrants, in and out of school. "To the people of no other country is the problem of so much importance as to the people of the United States. No other country has so many men, women and children coming to its shores every year from all parts of the world.

"Many of those who have come to us in recent years are from countries having very meager provisions for public education. According to the federal census of 1910 more than 25 per cent of the foreign-born population of three states was illiterate, from 15 to 25 per cent of five states, from 10 to 15 per cent of 11 states, and from five to ten per cent of 21 states. In one state was the percentage of illiteracy of the foreign-born population less than five.

"Most of the immigrants in recent years have 't'he kinship with the older stocks of our population, either in blood, language, methods of thought, traditions, manners, or customs; they know little of our political or civic life and are unused to our social ideals; their environment here is wholly different from that to which they have been accustomed. Strangers to each other, frequently from hostile countries by tradition, of different speech and creeds, they are thrown together, strangers among strangers, in a strange country, and are thought of by us only as a conglomerate mass of foreigners. With little attention to their specific needs, they are crowded into factories, mines, and dirty tenement quarters, too often the prey of the exploiter in business and the demagogue in politics.

"Immigration education is not alone the question of school education of children. The millions of adult men and women, and of children older than the upper limit of the compulsory school attendance age, must be looked after; they must be prepared for American citizenship and for participation in our democratic industrial, social, and religious life; they must be given sympathetic help in finding themselves in their new environment and in adjusting themselves to their new opportunities and responsibilities. The proper education of these people is a duty which the nation owes to itself and to them. It can neglect this duty only to their hurt and its own peril."

Kansas has a woman candidate for congress. When a few of the ladies get seats in the house the wives of some of those frisky old gentlemen who hanker for a term at Washington will not be so anxious to see their husbands win. And how would it seem to have your wife elected to congress and spend part of the year down there attending state dinners, while father stayed home and rocked the cradle?

The election law that requires women to give their exact age is ridiculous, and we are not trying to make a hit with the ladies, either. What difference does it make how old a woman is, just so the law knows she is old enough to vote? If she is twenty-one or over, and a citizen, she can vote, so what's the odds whether she be twenty-two or fifty-two?

Candidates

By WALT MASON

The candidates are coming for h, a fierce and noisy crew, and East and West, and South and North, they sound the loud bazoo; they sound the loud bazoo, my friends, the same familiar notes, and ere the weary campaign ends they'll have our divers goats. They're weeping for the men w o slave, with sweat upon their brows; the starry flag again they wave, and vow the same old vows; they vow the same old vows, my boys, we heard in days of youth; they so beguile us by their noise, we think they speak the truth. And so we'll all neglect our work, and waste the golden days, to hear the ten cent modern Burke goldbrick the easy jays; goldbrick the easy jays, my lads, and fill us full of bunk, when we should work to earn the scads likewise the bone and plunk. They'll teach us that our fate depends on going to the polls, and voting for our windy friends who spring long rigmaroles; whospring long rigmaroles, my dears, but never ply the saw; who never wield the spade or shears—they only wield the jaw. They'll fool us with the same old tricks, and lead us by the nose, and we shall look to politics for cures for all our woes; for cures for all our woes, my chums, which statesmanship can't help; and when the day of waking comes, just watch us whine and yelp!

FARM OF 147 ACRES. This farm joins the City of Dixon on the West. Is on the Sterling and Dixon Highway, a hard road which has been designated as a part of the Lincoln Highway. Stone road also on South side of farm. The Sterling & Dixon Interurban Electric Railway runs through the farm. Is only a short distance from Rock River and Adelheid Park joins the farm on the South. City water and electricity for light is now practically at the edge of the farm. This property is ripe for sub-division and a number of beautiful suburban homes have already been built on the opposite side of the Sterling Road. Since the Brown Shoe Company have reopened the Watson Shoe Factory and the State Board has designated Dixon as the home of the New $3,000,000 "Epileptic Colony" there will need to be built many new homes to house the people coming to the City.

This farm is ideal for such homes. The new Loveland school building erected last year is only a few rods from the farm. This property was purchased cheap for cash at a partition suit sale to settle an estate and will be sold to the right parties on liberal terms.

VOTES BIG SUM FOR LARGE ARMY

Senate Makes Large Increase in House Army Appropriation Bill.

MONEY FOR ARMY OF 500,000

United States Given $6,295,200 for More Soldiers and More Guns—Inadequacy of Defense of Pacific Coast Is Shown.

Washington, Feb. 10.—Materially increasing the house appropriations for artillery and ammunition, the senate passed the fortification appropriation bill carrying $6,295,200. Senator Bryan said the increases were made to meet as nearly as possible the estimate for an army of 500,000 men.

"If there are only 76,000 men in the army now, why should we have an army of 500,000 men?" asked Senator Sheppard.

"So as to be prepared for war," replied Senator Bryan. "While we had only 20,000 men operating around Santiago in the Spanish-American war, we had about 250,000 men enlisted. With this allowance of guns America still would have fewer guns per man than any other first class power. We would have about the same proportion as Bulgaria and Serbia. We should remember it takes years to make these guns."

Not Powder for Thirty Minutes.
"Think of the great Pacific coast without enough powder to last 30 minutes under attack!" exclaimed Senator Warren.

Senator Smoot said the lack of ammunition was almost criminal.

"Even Mexico possesses more mobile guns than we do," he asserted.

Senator Ashurst attacked the appropriations as extravagant.

"We are spending 65 cents out of every dollar raised by the federal government for wars past or which we think or pretend to think are in the future."

"Patriots for Profits Only."
Senator Sutherland challenged his figures. Senator Ashurst retorted that there were "patriots for profit only," who "filled the country with alarms of war," because they had armor plate or powder to sell.

Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the military committee, pleaded for a more efficient army as the best method of keeping peace.

"I do not think I am out of place in saying that the situation confronting this country is a delicate one," he added. "I hope we never will have trouble, but we ought to be prepared for trouble if it ever comes."

WILL TRACE NEW HAVEN LOSS

Commerce Commission to Reveal Name of Guilty Person.

Washington, Feb. 10.—Startling information is promised by the interstate commerce commission at the end of its second probe into the financial affairs of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad. Senator Norris' resolution reached the commission yesterday. It was debated in secret conference by the commissioners. The resolution is understood to call for facts and figures not made public under the first resolution. These figures are in possession of the commission and need only to be more thoroughly substantiated to bring light upon the $12,000,000 that has never been accounted for.

Reports from the interstate commerce commission, men trained under Commissioners Clark and Prouty, have been instructed to delve deep into the affairs of the railroad system. Just when the investigations will begin is not known. It is thought, however, that work will begin immediately after the eastern freight rate case is closed.

Climax of Home Rule Fight at Hand.

London, Feb. 10.—Parliament opened today, and it is destined to make history, if for no other reason than because during the coming session the last act of the long and bitter fight for and against home rule is to be played in the house of commons. The liberal government, supported by a coalition of liberal labor members and Irish nationalists, stands pledged to carry through a home rule bill which twice has been passed by the house of commons, only to be rejected by the house of lords, and the government possesses a sufficient majority to secure its passage a third time. Then it will be submitted to the king, who will sign it, the cabinet taking upon itself full responsibility, and the long fight for self-government by the Irish nationalists will come to a victorious end.

TO INDICT MANY IN BANK WRECK

Tennessee Attorney General Plans Vigorous Action in $1,000,000 Defalcation.

LOST IN COTTON GAMBLING

Accused Man Admits His Guilt and Declares His Willingness to Take His Punishment—Makes No Effort to Get Bail.

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 10.—It became known that Attorney General Z. N. Estes of Tennessee will endeavor to indict all officers and directors of the Mercantile bank of Memphis, which closed its doors and went into the hands of a receiver.

The evidence will be presented to the grand jury next Tuesday.

This action is planned by Mr. Estes despite the fact C. H. Raine, president of the bank, has assumed all blame for the failure of the institution which has been regarded as one of the strongest financial institutions in the south.

Mr. Raine admitted the failure was due to his speculation in cotton. He is said to have admitted defalcations of nearly $1,100,000.

Raine Is Arrested.
Mr. Raine has made no effort to give bail, according to attaches of the criminal court. He was arrested shortly before noon on a bench warrant charging embezzlement of $788,804.76 of the bank's funds, and was taken to the county jail.

The bank president was escorted before Judge Palmer by Sheriff Tate and Deputy Sheriff M. W. Palmer. Taking the warrant under which the banker was arrested and which was sworn out by Attorney General Estes, the court read the document to Mr. Raine and asked him if he had anything to say.

"I am guilty," replied the banker. "Mr. Attorney General," continued the court, "what bond do you recommend?"

Before the attorney general could reply the banker interrupted with: "I don't want to give bond; I want to go to jail."

He was taken to the jail by Deputy Sheriff Palmer. When he was searched at the jail, preparatory to being committed to a cell, he informed the jailer that "You needn't be afraid. I'm not going to make any trouble."

Bond Fixed at $250,000.
Judge Palmer fixed the banker's bond at $250,000. It is understood, however, that Mr. Raine will make no effort to furnish bail. His attitude is taken by the county authorities as indicating his willingness to take without resistance any punishment that might be meted out by the criminal court.

Criminal proceedings against the banker came as the culmination of the bank's failure. An application for the appointment of J. L. Hutton, state superintendent of banks, as receiver for the Mercantile bank, was granted by Chancellor Fentress. Mr. Hutton arrived in Nashville early in the day, and immediately upon the chancery court's decree naming him receiver, took charge of the bank's affairs.

The bank was officially closed following an order by the board of directors, who subsequently filed a bill in chancery, charging C. Hunter Raine, president of the institution, with having lost, through cotton speculations, $788,804.76 of the bank's funds.

Owing to the bank's extensive operations, a complete report of the receiver's audit is not expected for several days.

GOETHALS OUSTS CANAL OFFICIAL

Manager of Commissary Department Accused of Accepting Gratuities.

INSISTS ON HIS INNOCENCE

Large Sums of Money Deposited in Indianapolis Banks Traced to Accused Man—Will Be Tried in New York.

Panama, Feb. 10.—John Burke, manager of the commissary department of the Panama canal commission, was suspended by Colonel Goethals.

Colonel Goethals' action came at the conclusion of the hearings which gave Burke a chance to clear himself of the charges that he had accepted gratuities and had been guilty of irregular business transactions. Colonel Goethals also suspended W. F. Shipley, chief clerk of the commissary department, the reason given being "incompetence."

Colonel Goethals had received the report made by Mr. Nye, the special agent appointed to investigate the charges against John Burke. He then informed Burke that he had given him a chance to explain and produce evidence of the innocence of his transactions, and of how he came to be possessed of so much real estate and bank deposits.

Colonel Shows Emotion.
The voice of Colonel Goethals shook as he told Burke what evidence had been obtained.

A list of the deposits made by Burke in Indianapolis, amounting to $36,000, and in Colon, amounting to $42,000, during his term as manager of the commissary department, was then read by Colonel Goethals. He also read a list of properties purchased by Burke in Indianapolis and in Canada, aggregating $44,000, and a list of mortgages amounting to $15,000. All these purchases, he said, had been traced through various persons to Burke.

The colonel then asked Burke to make a statement.

Burke, leaning over the table toward Colonel Goethals, declared with much emotion:

"I can look you or any other man in the eye and tell you I am innocent. I have never taken a cent of money in my life, and I will go before any court for vindication."

Garrison to Take Up Case.

Washington, Feb. 10.—Colonel Goethals, at the direction of Secretary Garrison, will turn Burke's case over to the United States attorney at New York.

New York, Feb. 10.—United States District Attorney H. Snowden Marshall said that part of the documentary evidence in the Burke case had already been forwarded to him, and that as soon as he received the rest he would take action.

GOES TO DEATH IN RIVER

Girl Artist Leaves Note Saying She Disgraced Family.

Derby, Conn., Feb. 10.—The body of Miss Genevieve Allis, an artist and member of one of the oldest and best known families in New England, was found in the Housatonic river. It is believed she committed suicide.

Miss Allis disappeared from home in the night, leaving a note addressed to her father and her sister, Harriet, in which she said she had disgraced them, asked forgiveness and declared she "must end it all." She had been suffering for months from nervous trouble. She was a member of the Art League of New York.

BARS ORATORY AT BANQUET

Tango Will Take Its Place at Indiana Society Function.

New York, Feb. 10.—The Indiana Society of New York and the Daughters of Indiana have decided upon dancing, with auction bridge and vaudeville, for their next banquet. "We are the first to replace oratory with the tango," said Horace Ford, secretary.

Brockton, Mass., Feb. 10.—Strikes in the shot manufacturing industry in this city are believed to be a thing of the past. Thirty manufacturers and 13,000 operatives here now stand obliged to employ peaceful means of adjusting labor disputes.

Senate Body Favors Lobinger.

Washington, Feb. 10.—The nomination of Charles S. Lobinger of Nebraska, named by President Wilson to be judge of the United States consular court in China, was reported favorably by the senate judiciary committee.

MOTHER! IS CHILD'S STOMACH SOUR, SICK?

If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomachache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative" and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

FLAGLER CASE IS SETTLED

Former Wife of Late Multi-Millionaire Gets $65,233.

New York, Feb. 10.—In return for releasing her dower rights in the estate of the late Henry M. Flagler, the Florida multi-millionaire, Ida A. Flagler, an incompetent whom Flagler divorced after she became insane, will receive $65,233 in cash. The supreme court authorized this arrangement. The payment was calculated to equal five per cent. a year on one-third of the value of the Flagler estate during the period that Mrs. Flagler, according to the life insurance tables, may expect to live.

He wrote he was good looking, stately and well able to give a wife a good home.

VILLA AFTER BANDITS

Hunts Slayers of Americans in Cumbre Tunnel.

Rebel Leader Orders That Castillo and His Band Are to Be Executed on Sight.

Juarez, Mex., Feb. 10.—Maximo Castillo's band of bandits, who wrecked a train in the big Cumbre tunnel and killed 15 Americans, is being pursued by 1,000 constitutionalists and a big posse of cowboys.

General Villa has ordered that the bandit and all his band be executed on sight.

Laborers are making an organized effort to rescue the bodies of the wreck victims, who are declared to number 40, from the tunnel. The tunnel supports are afloat and great pieces of rock and earth are constantly falling, making the work extremely dangerous.

Castillo's band is said to be composed of 13 men and two women. He formerly was Madero's personal body guard.

Mexico City, Feb. 10.—Thousands of troops were moved back and forth in the city yesterday, ostensibly in celebration of the first anniversary of the "Ten Days' Bombardment," which resulted in the overthrow of the Madero government and the assumption by Huerta of the presidency.

Cannon were rumbled into position and only the stanchest and most highly trained of the Huerta troops were used.

Government secret service officials had reported that they had discovered a plot to start an uprising during the celebration.

The national palace and the arsenal were guarded by the battle-scarred soldiers of the Twenty-ninth regiment, General Blanquet's own men. A large force of troops was sent to guard the prisons of Santiago and Belem, the latter where many of the Madero deputies are under guard.

Numerous arrests were made during the night and the early hours of the day, but no signs of disorder were seen.

IS CHARGED WITH ASSAULT

Denver Lawyer Engages in Fight With Two Editors.

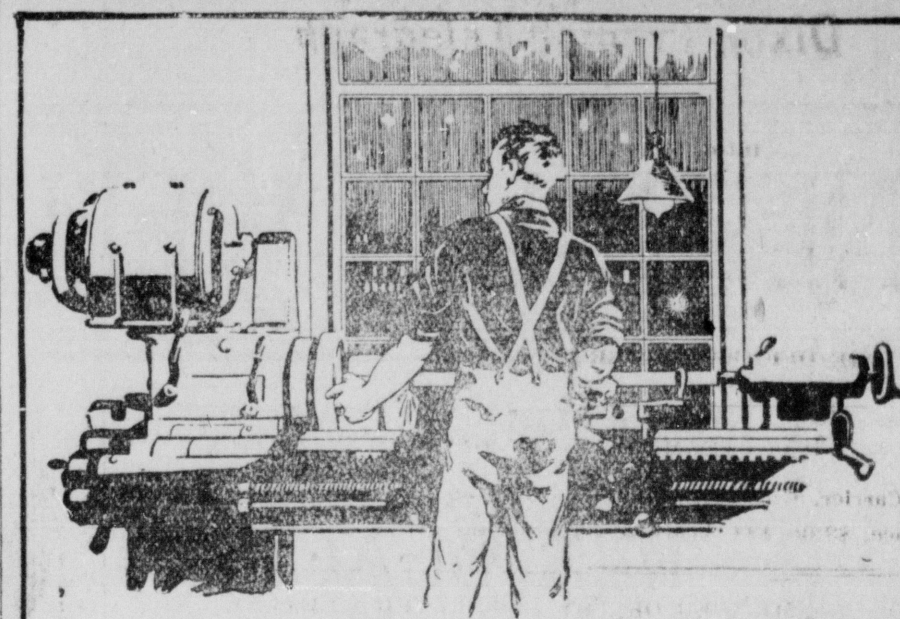

Denver, Colo., Feb. 10.—Thomas J. O'Donnell, one of Denver's foremost attorneys, is under bond on a charge of assault with intent to kill; also he is under the care of a physician for wounds inflicted in the courthouse by Fred G. Bonfils, H. H. Tamm and Mike Delaney, just before the opening of a hearing in which the Denver Union Water company is a litigant.

O'Donnell is the water company's attorney. Bonfils and Tamm are the owners of the Denver Post, which is fighting the water company in a franchise election to be held February 17.

The stories told by the two sides to the fight in the courthouse are as far apart as the earth and the sun. Nine witnesses support O'Donnell's statement that he was waylaid by Bonfils, Tamm and Delaney. On the other hand, the owners of the Post declare O'Donnell was the aggressor.

NOTES ON THE IMPROVEMENT ASSESSMENTS

Judge Scott continued for a week the hearing on the supplemental assessment for paving around the court house, which was started yesterday in the county court, but he approved the change in the Illinois Central's assessment for the North Galena avenue pavement. The commissioner had assessed the company on 200 feet frontage, whereas it owns but 150 feet.

THE NE'ER-DO-WELL

A Romance of the Panama Canal
BY REX BEACH

COPYRIGHT, 1910, 1911, BY HARPER & BROTHERS

SYNOPSIS.

Kirk Anthony, son of a rich man, with college friends, gets into a fracas in a New York resort. A detective is hurt. Jefferson Locke infatuates himself into the college men's party.

Locke, aided by Kirk's friend Higgins, who thinks it a joke, drugs Kirk and puts him aboard a ship bound for Colon. Kirk is on the passenger list as Locke.

"Broke" and without baggage, aboard the ship Kirk makes the acquaintance of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Cortlandt.

Kirk's father repudiates him, and Weeks casts him out as an impostor. Kirk meets Allan, a Jamaican negro canal worker out of a job. The two are arrested by Colon police for helping to put out a fire.

Kirk and Allan are treated brutally in a Colon jail by young Alfarez, commandant of police. Allan's release is obtained by the British consul, but Weeks refuses to aid Kirk. Mrs. Cortlandt gets a phone call.

Locke (real name Waller) is a swindler and has disappeared. His description fits Kirk. The latter tries in vain in Panama to learn something of Chiquita and meets Alfarez again.

Kirk kisses Mrs. Cortlandt and is then ashamed to think he has violated Cortlandt's trust in him. Cortlandt, alarmed by his wife's absence, rescues her and Kirk from the island. In the country near Panama Kirk meets a charming Spanish girl.

The Cortlandts and Kirk plan a picnic on the island of Taboga, near Panama. Cortlandt is detained and his wife and Kirk are marooned on the island.

Kirk wins the capital prize, $25,000, in the lottery. He and Rannels make plans for advancement. The Cortlandts, having turned from the older Alfarez, intend to make Senor Garavel, a banker, president of Panama.

Alfarez's son, Kirk's foe, is engaged to Gertrudis, Garavel's daughter. She is Kirk's "Chiquita." He meets her again at the opera through Mrs. Cortlandt's aid.

Kirk makes love to Chiquita. With Cortlandt, infatuated with Kirk, goes riding with him frequently.

Kirk's father casts him off finally, and Mrs. Cortlandt obtains for him a position on the Panama railroad under Rannels, master of transportation.

Mrs. Cortlandt obtains Kirk's release by using influence with Colonel Jolson, head of the canal. The Cortlandts are intriguing to make Alfarez's father president of Panama.

She avows her love for him. Their ride and talk are interrupted by her husband, Kirk asks Garavel for his daughter's hand. The banker wishes her to marry Alfarez to advance his own ambitions. Clifford, a man from the States, asks Rannels about Kirk.

CHAPTER XVII.

The Rest of the Family.

THE time for Senor Garavel's return having arrived, Kirk called at the bank and found not the least difficulty in gaining an audience.

"I remember you quite well, sir," said Garavel—"La Tosca." Since you are a friend of Mrs. Cortlandt I shall be delighted to serve you.

"I have something very particular to say to you," Kirk began diffidently, "but I don't just know how to get at it."

Garavel smiled graciously. "I am a business man."

"This isn't business," blurted Kirk; "it's much more important. I want to have it over as quickly as possible, so I'll be frank. I have met your daughter, Mr. Garavel—the banker's eyes widened in a look of disconcerting intensity—"and I am in love with her—sort of a shock, isn't it? It was to me. I'd like to tell you who I am and anything else you may wish to know."

"My dear sir, you surprise me—if you are really serious. Why, you have seen her but once—a moment, at the theater!"

"I met her before that night, out at your country place. I had been hunting and on my way home through the woods I stumbled upon your swimming pool. She directed me to the road."

"But even so?"

"Well, I loved her the first instant I saw her."

"I knew nothing of this. If you had reason to think that your suit would be acceptable, why did you not come to me before?"

"I couldn't. I didn't know your name. I was nearly crazy because I couldn't so much as learn the name of the girl I loved!" Kirk plunged confusedly into the story of his meeting with Chiquita.

"That is a strange tale," said Senor Garavel when he had finished. "If you would tell me something about yourself I might know better in what light to regard this affair."

"Gladly—though there isn't much to tell. Just now I'm working on the P. R. R. as assistant to Rannels—the master of transportation, you know. I like the work and expect to be promoted."

ed. I have a little money—just enough to give me a fresh start if I should lose out here, and—oh, well, I'm poor, but honest. I suppose that's about the size of it." He paused, vaguely conscious that he had not done himself justice. "My father is a railroad man in Albany, N. Y."

"In what capacity is he employed, may I ask?"

Kirk grinned at this, and, seeing a copy of Broadstreet's on the banker's table, turned to his father's name, which he pointed out rather shamefacedly. Senor Garavel became instantly less distant.

"Of course the financial world knows Darwin K. Anthony," said he. "Even we modest merchants of the tropics have heard of him, and that his son should seek to win success upon his own merits is greatly to his credit. I congratulate you, sir, upon your excellent progress."

"I ought to tell you, sir, that I am not on good terms with my father at present. In fact, he has cast me off. That is why I am here supporting myself by hard work, instead of living in idleness. But I'm beginning to like the work—and I'll make good—I'll do it if only to show my father his mistake. That's what I care about most. I don't want his money. It's easier to make money than I thought. But I must succeed, for his sake and my own."

"May I inquire the cause of this estrangement?"

"Oh, general worthlessness on my part, I suppose. Come to think of it, I must have been a good deal of a cross. I never did anything very fierce, though." He smiled a little sadly.

A quick light of thought flashed through the banker's eyes. He was a keen judge of men.

"Well, well," he said, with a trace of impatience, "there is no need to go into the matter further. Your going through the banker's eyes. He was a keen judge of men."

is an obstacle to your marriage into a Spanish family which you do not stop to consider, one which might well prove insurmountable. I speak of religion."

"No trouble there, sir."

"You are then a Catholic?"

"It was my mother's faith, and I was brought up in it until she died. After that I sort of neglected it. You see, I am more of a Catholic than anything else."

"What we call a 'bad Catholic'?"

"Yes, sir. But if I were not it wouldn't make any difference. Chiquita is my religion."

"Who?" The father started.

"I—I call her that," Kirk explained in confusion; "to myself, of course."

"Indeed! So do I," said Senor Garavel dryly. For a moment he frowned in meditation. There were many things to consider. He felt a certain sympathy for this young man, with his straightforwardness and artless brusquerie. Moreover, though the banker was no great respecter of persons, the mention of Darwin K. Anthony had impressed him. If Kirk were all that he seemed he had no doubt of the ultimate reconciliation of father and son.

At all events it would do no harm to learn more of this extraordinary suitor, and meanwhile he must treat him with respect while carefully guarding his own dignity against possibly impertinent advances.

"She has been promised to Ramon," he said, at last, "and I have considered her future quite settled. Of course, such arrangements are frequently altered for various causes, even at the last moment, but—who knows?" He shrugged his shoulders. "She may not wish to entertain your suit. So why discuss it? Why make plans or promises? It is a matter to be handled with the greatest delicacy; there are important issues linked with it. For a young man I have known so very short a time—he smiled genially—"you have impressed me not unfavorably. I thank you for coming to me, at any rate."

The two men rose and shook hands; Kirk was not altogether cast down by the result of the interview. He understood the banker's allusion to the possible change of arrangements, and felt sure from what Chiquita had told him that the marriage with Ramon could not take place after the true nature of Garavel's political aspirations became known.

The truth was that Andres Garavel had not hesitated long after that memorable night at the Tirol before accepting the brilliant prize which the Cortlandts had dangled so alluringly before his eyes, and the decision once made, he had entered into the scheme with all his soul. He was wise enough, however, to leave his destiny largely in their hands.

It was not long after Kirk's visit to the bank that Garavel, during a conference with the Cortlandts, took occasion to bring up the young man's name. Cortlandt had been called to the telephone, and Edith was left free to answer without constraint.

"I have seen you and him riding quite frequently," her guest remarked, with polite interest. "Is he, then, an old friend?"

"Yes, we are very fond of him. He will be promoted soon, by the way, although he doesn't know it. He is to replace Rannels as soon as he is able. Kirk is certain to succeed, and old Anthony will come round, if I know American fathers."

Garavel smiled, well pleased that he had treated his recent visitor with proper consideration. After all, why not invite the young fellow to his house? That would be rather a significant step according to Spanish custom, yet he need not be bound by it. He could put a stop to the affair at any time. Besides, despite his frequent protestations to the contrary, he was somewhat influenced by his daughter's desire for more liberty. It was not fair to her, he thought in his heart, that she should know only Ramon. One reason especially appealed to his pride. If a break came between him and Alfarez, Ramon must not appear to have jilted Gertrudis. If, meanwhile, she had another suitor, and one of distinguished family, the affair would wear a better look. It cannot be denied that the name of Darwin K. Anthony rang musically in his ears.

"The boy has the right stuff in him," Edith went on. "He began at the bottom only a few months ago, preferring to work his way up, though he was offered a first rate position to begin with."

She would have said more, but just at that moment her husband entered. "You were saying that Alfarez suspects," said Cortlandt, addressing Garavel. "Has he said anything?"

"Not to me as yet, but he surely must know. The rumors must have reached him. He is cold, and Ramon acts queerly. I feel guilty—almost as if I had betrayed a friend."

"Nonsense! When the time comes you will be called for. But it must be the voice of the people calling. Bocas, Chiriqui, Colop—they must all demand Garavel," Cortlandt sighed. "I shall be very glad when it is over." He looked more pale, more bloodless, more world weary than ever.

"You need have no fear that it will cause serious trouble between you and the general," Mrs. Cortlandt assured Garavel. "Ramon should be able to effect peace, no matter what happens."

"Ah, I am not so sure that there will be a marriage between Gertrudis and him."

"Is she growing rebellious?" Cortlandt inquired. "If I were you, then, I wouldn't force her. A loveless marriage is a tragic thing."

His wife nodded her agreement. "Not exactly rebellious. She would do whatever I asked regardless of her own feelings, for that is the way we Spaniards bring up our daughters, but she is cold to Ramon, and he, I believe, is suspicious of my intentions toward his father. Therefore the situation is strained. With Gertrudis I cannot be severe, but unless it becomes necessary to make conditions with my old friend, Alfarez, I should prefer to let the girl have her own way."

It was about this time, perhaps two weeks after Kirk had replied to his father's letter, that Rannels called him in one day to ask:

"Do you know a man named Clifford?"

"No."

"He dropped in this morning, claiming to be a newspaper man from the States; wanted to know all about everything on the canal and—the usual thing. He didn't talk like a writer, though. I thought you might know him. He asked about you."

"Me?" Kirk pricked up his ears.

"I gathered the impression he was trying to pump me," Rannels eyed his subordinate shrewdly. "I boosted you."

"Is he short and thick set?"

"No; tall and thin." As Kirk merely looked at him in a puzzled way, he continued: "I suppose we're all suspicious down here, there's so much of that sort of thing. If he has anything on you—"

"He's got nothing on me."

"I'm glad that. You're the best man I have, and that shakeup I told you about is coming off sooner than I expected. I'd hate to have anything happen to you. Do you think you could hold down my job?"

"What? Do you really mean it?"

"I do."

"It goes without saying that I'd like to be master of transportation, but not mind you're through."

"Well, the old man has had another row with Colonel Jolson and may not wait for his vacation to quit. I'm promised the vacancy."

"Then you have seen the colonel?"

"No, but I have seen Mrs. Cortlandt. I felt I had a right to ask something from her in return for what I did for you. I know that sounds rotten, but you'll understand how it is. Colonel Jolson wants his brother-in-law, Blakeley, to have the place, but I'm entitled to it, and she has promised to fix it for me. If I go up you go too. That's why I was worried when this Clifford party appeared."

"There is something, I suppose, I ought to tell you, although it doesn't amount to much. I was mixed up in a scrape the night I left New York. A plain clothes man happened to get his head under a falling bottle and nearly died from the effects."

"This Clifford party is stopping at the Hotel Central. Better look him over."

"I will," said Kirk, feeling more concerned than he cared to show, but his apprehension turned out to be quite unfounded. On inspection Clifford proved to bear no resemblance whatever to Williams, nor did he seem to have any concealed design. He was a good sort, apparently, with a knack of making himself agreeable, and in the weeks that followed he and Kirk became quite friendly. Meanwhile, no word had come from Senor Garavel, and Kirk was beginning to fret. But just as he had reached the limit of his patience he received a note which transported him with joy.

Senor Andres Garavel, he read, would be in the city on the following Tuesday evening, and would be pleased to have him call.

Even with his recent experiences of Spanish etiquette Kirk hardly realized the extent of the concession that had been made to him. He knew nothing of the tears, the pleadings and the spirited championship of his cause that had overborne the last parental objection. It was lucky for him that Chiquita was a spoiled child and Garavel a very Americanized Spaniard. However, as it was, he went nearly mad with delight and had hard work to refrain from shaving himself twice that Tuesday evening, so overjoyed was he about his lot, yet his excitement was as nothing compared to that of Allan, who looked on with admiration tempered by anxious criticism.

"It will be a grand wedding, sir," he exclaimed. "Hailan will be there for giving you away."

The residence of Senor Garavel is considered one of the show places of Panama. It is of Spanish architecture, built of brick and stucco and embellished with highly ornamental iron balconies. It stands upon a corner overlooking one of the several public squares, guarded from the street by a breast high stone wall crowned with a stout iron fence. Diagonally opposite and running the full length of the block is a huge weather stained cathedral, and fronting upon the intersecting street is a tiny shrine with an image of the Madonna smiling downward. At night its bright radiance illumines the darkness round about and lends the spot a certain sanctity.

An Indian woman, clad in barbarous colors, her bare feet incased in sandals, admitted him, and the banker himself met him in the hall. He led the way into a great barren parlor, where, to Kirk's embarrassment, he found quite a company gathered. His host formally presented him to them.

One after another. There were Senor Pedro Garavel, a brother of Andres; Senora Garavel, his wife, who was fat and short of wind; the two Misses Garavel, their daughters; then a little wrinkled, brown old lady in stiff black silk who spoke no English. Kirk gathered that she was somebody's aunt or grandmother. Last of all, Gertrudis came shyly forward and put her hand in his, then glided back to a seat behind the old lady. Just as they were seating themselves another member of the family appeared—this time a second cousin from Guatemala. Like the grandmother, he was as ignorant of English as Kirk was of Spanish, but he had a pair of frightfully intense black eyes with which he devoured the American.

Now a High Cost of War. Colonel E. Picard finds that the firing of one shell of the French 12-inch naval gun costs 4,350 francs, or about $870. This amount is divided as follows: The cost of the projectile which weighs about 970 pounds, is $300. The charge weighs about 237 pounds and costs about $200. The gun costs about $70,000. Taking the life of the gun at two hundred shots, each shot would cost about $350.—Army and Navy Journal.

Organized Charity. "Ere comes a benevolent-looking old cove," said a gentleman of leisure to his chum. "Let's tackle him for the price of a night's lodgin'." "Don't yer think of it, Bill," hastily responded the other, seizing his arm. "Let's wait for somebody that's half full. Architect Honored by Kaiser. Herr von Ihne, the architect whom the kaiser has intrusted with the building of a new $1,000,000 embassy at Washington—after sweeping the designs of 272 competitors into the dustbin—is really half an Englishman, for his mother was English and he himself was born at Liverpool, where his father was for long a teacher of German. After that the father became professor of English literature at Heidelberg.

Cyril Maude tells the following story about his old friend W. S. Penley: Penley was stopping at a country house in Brittany, and the morning after his arrival, finding no looking-glass in his room, rang the bell. "Apportez-moi un cheval," he said to the maid who answered it. The maid, choking with laughter, ran down to her master. "Monsieur," she cried, "your friend who arrived last night is mad. He has nothing on but his dressing-gown, and he has asked me to bring him a horse!" The host ran up and asked Penley what on earth he wanted a "cheval" for. "Well," was Penley's reply, "we talk of cheval glass at home, don't we? I thought 'cheval' was the French word for mirror."

Gowns Today.

They cling.
Yet they're loose.
They are bulky.
Yet they hang in at the feet.
Flexible weightings are a necessity. Gaze-like petticoats veil the ankles. Crepe de chine is the ideal underwear fabric.

Thanks to outer scantiness, under things are very important.

Color Contrast.

The color contrast is a marked feature of dress at the moment, and if it cannot be obtained in any other way the flower at the waist or tucked into the corsage accomplishes it. A deep red rose, a golden chrysanthemum, a purple peony will lend just the contrasting touch desired.

Dances at Ninety-Five.

Princess Wigenstein, the oldest active society woman in Europe, is in her ninety-fifth year, and leads an active life. She dances, it is said, with the grace of youth, and has just finished a play. Fifty years ago she established herself at Lausanne and has lived there ever since. Her chalet is the center of intellectual activity.

The pains left and the action of my kidneys was regulated."

Had Reached the Limit.
That is a good story which has been told about Cecil Rhodes and the buttons of his jacket. A habit with him was to make a particular coat so much a favorite that he would wear it every day. One coat which had been through this ordeal he sent at last to the tailor to be cleaned and mended, and he got back the reply: "We regret that all we can do with the garment is to make a new coat to match the buttons."

American Money for Italy.
During the calendar year 1912 one of the banks of Naples received in small remittances from emigrants domiciled in foreign countries $11,870,885; of this sum $9,824,120 came from the United States. It is estimated that in a normal year the total remittances by emigrants to their relatives and friends in Italy amount to about $70,000,000.

Rather Be a Deacon.
Replying to a friend who "mentioned" him as a possible candidate for congress, Bert Walker of the Osborne Farmer, writes: "There are several things in the way, and then some. We have no desire to be a congressman. We are afraid of the long journey to Washington, and the idea of all our mail coming addressed to 'Hon.' is simply revolting. We would rather be a moderately successful deacon than a very bum congressman."

Winter Food for Birds.
Suet is good winter food for almost all birds. Get a solid piece, weighing about a pound, and tie two strings about it, knotting them firmly, one in one direction, the other in the other direction, so that the suet can't slip. Then hang the suet from a crotch in a tree. The birds will flock to it and pick it to shreds and then chirp to you to beg a new supply.

WILSON FAVORS PLAN

Democratic Leaders Would Eliminate Murphy.

Tentative Proposals for Harmony in New York Are Agreed to at Conference.

Washington, Feb. 10.—At a conference between President Wilson, Governor Glynn of New York and William McCombs, chairman of the Democratic national committee, reorganization plans for the Democratic party in New York state were tentatively agreed upon. As outlined on high authority they are:

1. The elimination of the control of Boss Murphy in upstate New York politics by the appointment of William Church Osborn, his bitter enemy, as chairman of the Democratic state committee.

2. The co-ordination of the party under the Wilson banner to back Osborn for United States senator, to succeed Elihu Root, Republican.

Governor Glynn sounded out practically every New York politician of importance on this matter yesterday. Both President Wilson and Chairman McCombs are said to believe that it presents the only course to bring about harmony in New York state.

Governor Glynn urged before house congressional committees recognition of state rights to control water power from the Niagara river and commercial needs of large federal appropriations for arterial New York state navigable streams.

He supported Mayor John Purroy Mitchell in recommending an immediate and large appropriation for the widening and deepening of the Hudson river channel from New York bay to Albany.

ELECTRICAL WELDING.

Modern stove manufacturers have hit on a plan of joining steel plates together without riveting them. It is done nowadays by welding, and the welding is done with an electric current.

Like a good many other inventions, this was dictated, if not by necessity, at least by high expediency. Riveting was never satisfactory in the making of stoves. Rivets were responsible for countless flaws. The metal at times cracked and broke. There was the problem of unequal expansion and contraction to be considered. No manufacturer was able to tell exactly what his stove was going to do when it had a real test—a genuine trial by fire. Sometimes it worked all right. Oftener it didn't. The plates would buckle and bend. There would be vents and fissures. It was often unsanitary, unsightly and unsatisfactory.

It meant selling a stove that might work and might not and some manufacturers took the consumer's good cash and used it to make more stoves, that might work and might not, and were happy.

Here and there, however, was a manufacturer who was not happy. who wanted to give the public a stove free from the defects that had been riveted into all stoves for the last half century. They had spent brains and money and energy in stove making, and they were not quite satisfied with the product.

So they put in more brains and money and energy, and one day a man rigged up an electric welding machine—a "spot welder," as he called it—and it worked!

The machine has been the subject of a number of highly technical and scientific papers by highly technical and scientific men, and is considered a distinct step forward.

In the simplest and most unscientific terms, however, it may be said to consist of superimposed copper "poles" heavily charged with electricity. The sheets to be welded are to be passed between them. At intervals of an inch or so a workman touches a lever. There is a little flash, a spark, and the thing is done. A perfect union has been formed. The two pieces, or two ends, as the case may be, have become one piece of metal.

The device, which shows one more of the manifold uses of electricity, is the invention of the Globe Stove and Range Company of Kokomo, Ind.

E. N. Howell Hdw. Co., Dixon, Ill., have the exclusive agency for the Globe line and will welcome an op-stove free from the defects that had been riveted into all stoves for the last half century. They had spent brains and money and energy in
